Description

Logiscool teaches 6 to 18 year old students to learn coding in a playful and creative way.

In January 2014, Logiscool was the first company - founded in Hungary - which have started making digital literacy available for students by using new, creative methods.

Today Logiscool is present in 32 countries around the world, at more than 160 locations and more than 140,000 students have begun to study coding with us. Our fun-based courses are tailored to the academic year in the afternoons or on Saturdays, and our experience is that children think Logiscool coding courses cool and unique.

Logiscool franchise is available for opening a coding schools in Serbian cities.
